O R S - 1 9 3 8

Under the guiding hand of Robert Minnich, our president, the smiling chap on the left, with the assistance of charming Pauline Wright, secretary treasurer, and Joe Davis, vice-president and able editor-in-chief of this Anchor, we have had our discouragements and likewise our small successes. This yearbook, the combined effort of the Senior Class, is the final endeavor of this sheltered phase of our life. Our share of its expenses was obtained through our class play, "Hold Everything," and our first offering of April 1st. We are looking forward to the future with hope and trust that the experiences gained here will lead us toward better achievements and higher aims.

Life begins for "38." Some of the Seniors will go directly into the world of business and start earning their livelihood, while others will continue their academic pursuit. In the following pages, the pictures and names of Seniors are shown.

CARDINALS

— A T H L E T I C S

Southport students and fans are very proud of the showing made by the various athletic teams of the school this year. They have done their part in making Southport well known throughout the state

As indicated by the blockers in the picture above, the players on our athletic teams play for group distinction, knowing that individual fame seldom brings satisfaction

Participation in any sport tends to develop the player physically and likewise to train him in the principle of self denial for the good of others. Thus greater gains may be had for himself through co-operation with those about him.

FOOTBALL

The Seniors who participated in this sport are Sam Hendershott, Bud Harrell, George J. Buck Wasson, Dan Zavela, Harvey Garn, Long, Bruce Wilson, Roy Philips, and Raymond Baker. Eight of these ten seniors played "regular" on the team and their places will have to be filled next year. Two of these Seniors were given recognition in the state. Hendershott, as full-back on the third team, and Buck Wasson half-back, given honorable mention. Shimer, a pound Ser, ters in football.

The prospects for 1938 look very promising. The returnees are Charles Wilson, Herman Williams, Harold Coates, Bill Shimer, Bill Schenbein, and Ed Schenbein.

BASKETBALL

The basketball team of the City of Chicago, known as the Chicago Bulls, has been a major force in the NBA for many years. The team's success is largely due to the leadership of its head coach, Phil Jackson, and the exceptional talent of its players. The Bulls have won several championships and have been a dominant force in the league for over a decade.

The Bulls' success is a testament to the team's hard work and dedication. The players have consistently performed at a high level, and the coaching staff has been instrumental in their success. The Bulls have set a standard for excellence in the NBA, and their fans are proud to support their team.

The Bulls' success has also led to a significant increase in the popularity of basketball in Chicago. The team's games are sold out, and the Bulls have become a major attraction for fans. The team's success has also led to a significant increase in the value of the franchise, and the Bulls are now one of the most valuable teams in the NBA.

The Bulls' success is a testament to the team's hard work and dedication. The players have consistently performed at a high level, and the coaching staff has been instrumental in their success. The Bulls have set a standard for excellence in the NBA, and their fans are proud to support their team.

The prospects for 1938-39 look very promising. The Cardinals losing through graduation only Sam Hendershott, "Buck" Wasson, and Bud Tex.

WILBERT HENDERSHOTT

"Sam," the "old standby," was a regular guard. His experience of the last two years proved to be very valuable to the team. He proved to be an outstanding leader, and his graduation will make vacant a place hard to fill.

WILLIAM SHIMER

"Bill" was one of our most versatile men this season, playing in all the various positions with an uncanny ability. His attitude and dependability were very important factors in the success of the team. He will be back next year.

BUCK WASSON

"Buck," who played his first year on the varsity team, secured a place on the first ten. He was always ready to serve and when called upon seldom failed to score. "Buck," a senior, will long be remembered for his fight and willingness to work.

EDWARD EATON

"Minner," a regular during the latter part of the season when called upon to substitute, proved to be a very reliable player. Eaton is 6 ft. 3 inches, has one more year and should be a valuable asset to the team next year.

HAROLD MILLER

Harold played on the second team most of the season, but he ascended to the first team at the end of the year. He is a very good shot, and should be a very valuable addition to the squad next year.

CHARLES WILSON

"Charley," well known for his ability on the gridiron, proved to be a most effective player for Coach Plunkitt. He was assigned to guard some of the best players in the state. If Charley can develop more in ability next season, every man on the quintet should be a scoring threat.

GUY TEX

"Bud" was a very valuable player as a regular and was the most dependable player in the sectionals. He was a fine scorer. His attitude and sportsmanship were high lights.

JOHN WILLIAMS

About the middle of the season, Johnny was advanced to the first five. His aggressive spirit and ability motivated the team when the going was the toughest. When he lacked in size he made up in that Johnny will be back with us next year.

EDWARD SCHENBLIN

"Ed" surprised the basketball fans this year by his steadily improved playing. When it came to scoring, the boy was always a threat. This was Ed's first year playing the game, but he developed rapidly and should be a valuable man in the future. He has two more years.

CHARLES MILLER

"Charlie" was a substitute forward this year. He has improved greatly in all lines and should, with proper spirit and determination, prove to be a very accomplished player next year. He is 6 feet 3 inches and has two years ahead of him.

WRESTLING

The Cardinal Wrestling squad, formed almost of new men, made a creditable showing during the 1938 season under the coaching of Mr. Pitcher, and produced a state winner. Meets were held with Bloomington, Bedford, and Muncie. Robbins, being undefeated in the 125 pound class and placing second in the State Meet, on February 26, was the outstanding individual on the squad. Bruce Wilson, in the 155 pound class, lost one match and placed fourth. The team placed ninth in the State Meet.

BASEBALL

The baseball prospects at Southport High School are not overly bright this spring with only two returning lettermen "Bud" Tex, elongated pitcher, and "Buck" Wasson, catcher, will form the veteran battery Coach Linson, in his first year at the helm, is working hard daily with a squad of aspiring hopefuls. Among the most promising of these rookies are: "Itchy" James, Merrill Dodds, "Ernie" Hohlt, Harold Miller, Kenneth Volpp, and ~~Harold~~ McLaughlin in the infield, with ~~Ed~~ ~~Soren~~ ~~Ham~~ and ~~Lorne~~ ~~Marbott~~ in two of the outfield positions. ~~Miller~~ and ~~Ray~~ ~~Ham~~ are the star players in the outfield.

Ray Linson, Coach, is talking in this picture to Bud Tex. Tex's grin at Mr. Linson's remarks regarding the ball foretells an understanding and love of the sport. Here Tex is in a windup for a fast curve ball

"Buck" Wasson at bat shows strength, while Mr Hamler, the assistant coach, with outstretched hands is explaining a thing or two. "Buck," leaning on his bat, will use the stick to better advantage later on.

The lower picture shows the two coaches and the two lettermen as they were ready to start the season

you will find that it shows the men in the club members who have the papers in my hands which is being transcribed. The men are Mr. W. M. Little, Sam W. Cole, and Elmer Care Cadwell and Vera Perry.

The total number of persons in the upper part of the hierarchy are the officers. Their names are probably due to the ~~fact~~ of the great change in the year

The president of the extreme left is William Brock, the president of the G. A. A. Next to him is M. McKim, the president of the association. Kathryn Howard is the secretary and treasurer. Last but not least is the vice president, Jean Benson.

CLASS HISTORY

The activities of the last year included the class play, "Hold Everything". This was directed by Harriett M. Kersey who also was sponsor of our year book, "The Anchor." This publication was perhaps the greatest endeavor the Seniors undertook. However, four Seniors, Gladys Wray, Jayne Fix, Bob Minnich, and Joe Davis performed for the public very laudably as Commencement speakers.
